Integrated solutions for engineering

ENGINEER GIUSEPPE BELLANTONI

Stories of successful companies always start from successful men. Giuseppe Bellantoni had begun to work in Research and Development for an important company in the Oil and Gas sector even before he graduated in Chemical Engineering in 1994. He came up with a patent for a new idea: a product which today is known on the market under the name of Ots (Operator Training Simulator). Bellantoni kept on going, and in 2004, decided to make the company, Iss International (www.iss-international.it): a company that offers integrated solutions for all the activities in the field of petroleum-gas plants, among which Epic, training, O&M, start-up, pre-commissioning, commissioning, Qhse services, process engineering, and maintenance. Iss offers its clients turn-key integrated services. "Setting up on your own is a bit like starting a family - says the engineer, Bellantoni -. In both cases in these times, you need courage and patience. I began in one room with a box as a chair, and yet I knew perfectly well how much and how the family I was about to create and support would grown". Today Iss is known as a point of reference in Italy and abroad.

What are the distinctive characteristics of Iss?

We focus on dynamism, professionalism, competitiveness, flexibility, honesty, a pinch of the healthy Italian spirit of adventure. In addition we believe that human beings and systems are interdependent economically, politically, socially, culturally, and spiritually. And this mutual sharing and values are tied in turn to what we spread with our activity. These are values, to cite just a few, like respect, freedom, the right of choice and responsibility, justice, and honesty, growth and investment, cooperation and trust, synergy and harmony. These are principles which we apply concretely and rigorously everywhere we work.

With these values given to the human element, are you aiming for eco-sustainable development?

Certainly! In addition to guaranteeing all employees and collaborators an efficient program for health and safety, we are in the phases of obtaining Iso 14001 and Iso 18001 certification in addition to being already certified Iso 9001 Ea 35 and Ea37.

Engineer Bellantoni, what other goals have you set yourself?

I fell that there are five main elements to achieve success and growth: competitiveness, internationalization, diversification, honesty, and humanity. Shortly we will be opening new branches in Ghana, Algeria, Kazakhstan and Mozambique, and we will watch with attention the Bric market, adding potential to our competitiveness and innovating our services.
